

Client Project: Management Audits in the Case of Equity Investments

Our client, a venture-capital firm, finances companies with a promising business model that is in an early stage of development.

Before the financing by our client, we conduct a one-day-long management audit with the future managers of each potential associate company.

These diagnostic measures ensure that, in addition to essential economic conditions such as business model, market size and competitive position, the management team as well as individual leadership-related personal and professional skills are illuminated in detail and potential risks identified.
